

Dear parents/carers, students and community members

A new name for our school

The Glossop High School Branding Committee has developed a shortlist of potential names for the school in line with our exciting move to one campus. Community members are encouraged to vote for their favourite, submit feedback or even suggest their own name.

This shortlist of names has been approved by the Department for Education and each one meets the guidelines of the school renaming process. Final approval of the school's chosen name will be given by the Minister for Education and the Office of the Surveyor General.

The shortlisted names are:

Moorundie Secondary College

Moorundie is the Ngarrindjeri word for river and was suggested by Aboriginal elders from the region.

Riverland Secondary College

This name reflects the location of the school and highlights that our school is home to students from multiple towns across the region.

Catherine Spence Secondary College

The Branding Committee identified progressive and inclusive as the key drivers of Glossop High School. Catherine Spence is a prominent South Australian who was a progressive thinker, inclusive and her values reflect those of Glossop High School.

Howard Florey Secondary College

Howard Florey was a prominent South Australian responsible for developing penicillin and won a Nobel Prize. He was chosen as his progressive thinking and academic achievements reflect the school's values.

As the school will no longer have a campus in Glossop, the school has to be renamed as per guidelines from the Office of the Surveyor General. The Surveyor General's guidelines are in place to prevent confusion for the general public regarding the school's location.
